

Writing your manifesto

What is a manifesto?

A manifesto is two things:

1. Your way to sell yourself to the people you want to vote for you.
2. A list of promises of what you will do if they do vote for you.

Sell yourself

Think about what sort of person you would want a good representative to be. What skills and abilities would they have?

Write down something about yourself that would prove to people that you have these skills and abilities.

What are you particularly good at that would help you be a great representative (being a great cook probably won't help much, but being really organised might)?

What would you do?

What do you think really needs to change about the school? What could you do that people would really like?

Think of things that are realistic, that you could do yourself, rather than having to ask other people to do?
